Punishments That Are Meted Out to

For infraction of regulations some curious punishments are meted out in the English navy. It is an everyday occurrence, says Lendon Tit-Bits, to see half a decen saliors lined up or deck facing the paint work, holding their hammorks on their shoulders. At first the hammarck isn't heavy, but after an Lour or so it drags on one's shoul-ders like lead. Besides, it is not at all entertaining to stare fixelly at a square foot of painted woodwork for an hour

Another punishment that Jack despises is bailing with a spoon. He is placed upon the deck, with two large oden buckets, one filled with water and the other empty. With a spoon he must dip all the water from one bucket and transfer it to the other being jests and Jeers
